

ALLEGED SLAYER OF LORY PRICE AND WIFE HELD

NEW CO. JAIL
PLEA IN GRAND
JURY REPORTFourteen Indictments
Returned to Judge
Harry Edwards

Members of the grand jury for the September term of the Lee County Circuit Court believe that the building committee of the country board of supervisors should not delay longer than is absolutely necessary in the providing of a new and sanitary jail for Lee county's prisoners. The grand jury made an extensive inspection of the age-worn structure now serving and which has been condemned by previous grand juries, who have also suggested new quarters in their reports.

In completing their duties late yesterday afternoon the grand jury returned the following report to Judge Harry Edwards:

"We the grand jury beg to report that we have inspected the county jail as is provided by law and find the same, also the prisoners, well kept under the supervision of Sheriff Ward T. Miller. The jail is much overcrowded and should be replaced by a modern and sanitary building as soon as conditions in the county warrant the expenditure of the amount necessary to build.

Urged Inspection.
"We recommend that an inspection of the electric wiring in and leading to the barn, now used as a garage at the county jail, be made by the building committee of the county board of supervisors and such changes be made as will obviate the danger of short circuiting that now exists.

"The jury also inspected the court house and commend the board of supervisors for the improvements recently completed which add greatly to the appearance of the interior of the building. The court house also presents a very tidy appearance, also the lawn, due to the labors of the care takers, Charles Andres and Fred Whipperman."

The list of indictments returned by the inquisitorial body was one of the longest in many court terms and required three days of investigation into cases which were presented by State's Attorney Mark Keller. The indictments returned were as follows:

Fourteen Indicted
Charles Lawson—possession and sale of intoxicating liquor.
Arthur Kearnes—robbery from the person.
Harry Ramsey—robbery from the person.
John Wolber—poisoning dogs.
LaVerne Rogers—larceny.
LeRoy Slick—robbery.
Edward E. Anderson—crime against nature.

E. D. Sowers—larceny.
Arthur Kearnes—assault with a deadly weapon.
Harry Ramsey—assault with a deadly weapon.

Cecil Kearns—larceny.
Ben Brown—larceny.
LeRoy Slick—larceny.
Rudolph Von Steffens—violation of motor vehicle law.

Bench warrants were issued by Judge Harry Edwards late yesterday afternoon and these were turned over to Sheriff Ward Miller with instructions to have all of the indicted parties before the court today in order to arrange for bonds until the date of their respective trials.

POSSE SEARCHING VALLEY OF FOX RIVER FOR FARM
USED BY BOY'S KIDNAPERSLad Furnished Good
Description of Kidnapers' Resort

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—"Kidnap farm," where Billy Ranieri was held captive for ransom for 13 days, today became the center of police interest.

The 10 year old boy and his father, A. Frank Ranieri, accompanied a police posse in search of the Fox river valley, near Dundee and Carpentersville, Ill. Billy furnished a detailed description of the farm, and officers expressed confidence they would locate the kidnapers' lair.

Billy and his father were to appear in court today, but police feared the father's admonition to the boy to "say nothing—do nothing" might prevent the lad from telling what he knows of his captors.

State's Attorneys, however, were determined to push prosecution. They expressed an intention to demand the death penalty for all connected with the kidnapping.

Juliano Romano and Salvatore La Rocco were sought as the actual kidnapers. The boy identified their photographs as those of his captors.

BOY, ABANDONED
IN DEKALB, NOW
ADMITS DECEITSays He Took Name of Youth Alleged Victim
on Murder Farm

Los Angeles, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The search for human bones and other evidence to substantiate the sinister story of the Northcott murder farm was temporarily suspended today by southern California officers pending return here of the principals in the case, a 21 year old youth and his mother who were arrested in Canada yesterday.

The center of activity in the case shifted to the Riverside county District Attorney's office which began extradition proceedings against Gordon Stuart Northcott and his mother, Mrs. Louisa Northcott, who have been sought for nearly a week. The former has been named as the slayer of at least four boys on his chicken farm at Riverside. Murder charges have been brought here against both.

Traces of Human Blood

Authorities here were confident that the youth arrested in Vernon, B. C. and the woman held in Calgary, Alberta, are the two principals named in the story of torture and murder told by their young relative, Sanford Clark.

Immediately following reports of the arrest Rex Walsh, Los Angeles city chemist, reported that samples of stained earth from shallow graves found on the Northcott farm revealed traces of human blood.

Last night authorities were informed that a boy brought here from DeKalb, Ill., under the identity of Walter Collins, kidnaped here months before, had admitted that he was not the abducted youth and that his assumption of young Collins' name was a hoax.

Youth Admits Hoax

Walter Collins, 9 years old, was named by young Clark as one of the four boys abused and then murdered on the Northcott farm.

Admitting his deceit the boy here said he did not know his own name and that his only knowledge of Walter Collins was from what he had learned through newspaper accounts and from talking with people in Sycamore, Ill.

The boy previously had convinced police that he was Walter Collins, and his mother, after her refusal to admit he was her boy, was held in the psychopathic ward of the general hospital for observation.

HAVE DOUBLE PROBLEM

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 20.—(AP)—A nine year old boy brought here as the missing Walter Collins has admitted that his story was a hoax and authorities today faced the double problem of identifying him and finding the Collins boy.

The mother of Walter Collins refused to accept the child as her son when he was brought from DeKalb, Ill., by officers of the Los Angeles Bureau of Identification, and it is feared Walter was a victim of the Northcott murder farm.

In his latest story the DeKalb boy said he could not tell his real name and believed his parents were dead. A DeKalb woman telegraphed that she thought he was "Billy Fields."

OFFICERS PUZZLED

DeKalb, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Local authorities were perplexed a month ago by the fantastic tales of a nine year old boy who was believed to have been left here by transient strangers. The boy told various stories of his identity, changing them from day to day and apparently believing them all. Unknown to any local residents, he was identified by Los Angeles officers as Walter Collins, mission from his home there, and was taken there by officers from the coast city.

Re-arrested as He was Given Liberty

Fred Krum, former Forrester auctioneer, who has been a resident of the Lee county jail since July 26, was released from that institution yesterday afternoon when the grand jury failed to return an indictment in his case for passing forged checks. However, a deputy from Whiteside county was in the office when Krum walked out of his cell and he was immediately re-arrested and taken to the Morrison jail on a charge of forging and passing forged checks in Whiteside county.

Hit Communities is Well Under Way

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 20.—(AP)—While the count of loss of life and the injured and homeless from Florida's tropical hurricane went forward in the storm area today, additional relief was speeding to the district from every direction.

Food, clothing, medical supplies and building material were hauled into the stricken Lake Okeechobee area by train and boat, while trucks and other conveyances continued their missions of mercy to the injured and sick or brought the dead out for burial.

Adjutant General Vivien Collins already was here making a survey of the conditions, and Governor John Martin was enroute to lend his aid if needed.

Most of Dead Negroes

Estimates of the dead continued to vary between 325 and 400 persons, the majority Negroes who were employed as laborers on the farms and Red Cross officials placed the number of homeless at 15,000.

Approximately 350 persons are dead in the Okeechobee section, swept both by hurricane winds and by a wall of water loosed from the lake when the dikes broke, General Collins reported to Governor Martin. Howard W. Selby, chairman of the Red Cross, estimated the death toll would reach nearer 400, saying that 200 were known dead to his workers.

Collins' report said that there were 4,000 homeless refugees in the city, and that an equal number more were expected here tomorrow.

Compilation of lists of the dead was hampered by the difficulties under which the recovery squads worked. Many bodies, in the water since they were overwhelmed by the lake flood were in such a state that it was necessary to bury them immediately. In some instances, searchers lacking means of conveyance, tied the bodies to trees and left them for the trucks.

The State Board of Health sent physicians and nurses who were administering to the injured and sick and giving preventative medicines to others.

PORTO RICAN SITUATION

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Food supplies were moving into the hurricane-stricken districts outside of San Juan today under Red Cross supervision. Tents and blankets were being distributed by the Army for emergency hospitals and for the shelter of those weakened by privation.

The food was taken from the Transport St. Mihel and placed at (Continued on page 8)

Prophetstown Fire
Did $20,000 Damage

Fire, which is thought to have started from a stove in Kiner Bros. grocery in Prophetstown at 10:30 o'clock last night, destroyed two frame business buildings, housing four stores, and for a time threatened the business section of the city.

However, aid sent by the Morrison and Sterling fire departments was largely instrumental in confining the flames to the two structures which were destroyed, and kept the damage to an estimated $20,000, which it is said is covered by insurance. The firms who were burned out were: Kiner Bros. grocery, Larkin barber shop, Richardson tin shop and Thompson's ladies ready-to-wear.

PRESIDENT NOW
ON WAY TO VT.:
ON SHORT VISITWill Inspect Work of
Rehabilitation in Native State

Aboard President Coolidge's Special Train enroute to Plymouth, Vermont, Sept. 20.—(AP)—On his way to his native state of Vermont, President Coolidge called a brief halt in his trip early today at Northampton, Mass., so that he and Mrs. Coolidge might call at the hospital where Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, Mrs. Coolidge's mother, has been ill since last winter.

Allowed by his schedule only an hour in Northampton, the Chief Executive expected to reach Brattleboro, his first stop in Vermont, soon afterward and to receive a local committee of welcome on the train. At the next stop at Bellows Falls, Park H. Pollard, a first cousin of the Chief Executive, had been invited to join the presidential party. Four more brief stops at Windsor, White River Junction, Bethel and Montpelier Junction were arranged for this morning before reaching Burlington early this afternoon. At Montpelier Junction Governor Weeks planned to board the train to accompany the President on the rest of the trip.

Before tonight, which Mr. Coolidge will spend in his old home in Plymouth, he hoped to see enough of the state to gather a comprehensive idea of the extent of Vermont's rehabilitation, after the floods of last fall.

Republican Tariff
Protects Laborers

Atwo old 101le Spt.02A)—P.R. Atwood, Ill. Sept. 20.—(AP)—The principle of the Republican party's tariff doctrine has given protection to American wage-earners and harmonized capital and labor, David W. Davis, former Governor of Idaho, said in an address at the county fairgrounds here today.

"It has shielded our men and women toilers, regardless of occupation, from low wages and competition of foreign countries. The Republican party—and when I speak of the party at this time I have reference to Mr. Hoover—recognizes that both capital and labor are necessary for our national well being, and that even-handed justice should be dispensed to both of these."

AGED MAN CONFESSES HE THREATENED TO DESTROY
HOME OF CHAIRMAN RASKOBSUSPECTS, HELD IN WIS., MAY BE
JOLIET SLAYERSLetter Addressed to Legislator May be Connecting Clue

Mauston, Wis., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The connection between the renegade pair captured Wednesday in a woods near New Lisbon and a letter which they destroyed shortly before they were captured which was addressed to John M. Jenco of Joliet, Ill., member of the Illinois Legislature, was hoped to be established today with the questioning of the seriously wounded pair.

Sheriff Lyall Wright, whose posse made the capture of Andrew Kenderes, about 21, and Nick Hartman, about 23, after a three-day search culminating in a gun fight and the injury of the desperadoes, hoped also today to fasten on the pair the robbery in Baraboo of a filling station and the beating of John Berkley, proprietor, for which they had been sought and captured.

A third outbreak with which the wounded men are believed to be connected by Chief of Police James E. Corcoran of Joliet, is that of the murder of John Kakara, brother-in-law of Jenco, who was fatally wounded when two men attempted to hold up a saloon in Joliet Saturday night. Chief Corcoran said that he had sent two men to Mauston to grill the suspects.

The bandit pair were in a serious condition in the Mauston hospital, and Kenderes, who was wounded in the abdomen with buckshot when captured, probably will die; while his companion, who was injured in the back by the same discharge, is not entirely out of danger. Questioning was postponed on account of their condition.

Sheriff W. H. Ode of Sauk county was to return from Joliet this morning where he had gone Wednesday night to confer with authorities there concerning the Jenco letter and the car which was abandoned by the captives. This car was at first reported to be that of Jenco but authorities later said it was unidentified.

TO SEE TWO MEN.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 20.—Accompanied by Sheriff A. E. Markgraf, Deputy James McKeon and Harry Payton, John M. Jenco, Illinois State Representative, left today for Mauston, Wis., to attempt to identify two men as members of a gang which shot and killed John Kakara, Jenco's brother-in-law, during a holdup of Kakara's saloon last week.

Bits of a letter addressed to Mr. Jenco were found near the automobile used by the pair, linking them with the Joliet holdup incident.

Payton, who was in the saloon when the shooting occurred, was taken along to view the wounded suspects.

Jimmy Howard, arrested on suspicion that he might have been a member of the holdup gang, today denied knowing anything of the affair.

The Wisconsin shooting and the finding of the letter addressed to Jenco first led to reports that the state legislator was missing and aroused fear for his safety but he later was located at his home here and denied having been away for more than two weeks. He was unable to explain how the letter appeared in Wisconsin.

Texas Democrats
Appeal to Hoover

(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—An appeal to Herbert Hoover to carry his campaign to Texas was made yesterday by Thomas B. Love, former Democratic National Committee member for that state, and a delegation of Texas Democrats who called on the Republican presidential candidate at his headquarters.

"We assured him that Texas is a doubtful state and that he could carry it if he would make a speech there," said Love who spoke for the visitors. "None of us ever has voted for any presidential candidate other than a Democrat since before."

"The Texas Democrats are in open revolt against Al Smith. We still are Democrats but are for Hoover."

Demanded $100,000 in Four Letters Sent to Mrs. Raskob

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A sixty-five year old man, giving a Philadelphia address, was today held in $10,000 bail on a charge of threatening to blow up the home of John J. Raskob, Democratic National Chairman, unless he was paid $100,000. He gave the name of Frank Mooney.

The threats were contained in four letters sent through the mails. According to private detectives, Mooney admitted the charge.

The letters were addressed to Mrs. Raskob at her home in Claymont, near Wilmington, Del. The first threatened to dynamite the home unless the money was forthcoming. Mrs. Raskob turned the letters over to detectives of the DuPont Company of which her husband is an officer.

A trap was laid for the writer, Mrs. Raskob was instructed to answer the letters and she did so, addressing it to General Delivery, Philadelphia postoffice, as directed by the writer.

Mooney called for the letter last night and was arrested by detectives of a local agency.

Ask Court to Set
Date for Hanging

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Attorney General Carlstrom and State's Attorney Rehn of Will county today petitioned the Supreme Court to fix the time and manner for the original sentence of death against Charles Shader, escaped convict, one of the six convicted of killing Deputy Warden Klein at the Illinois penitentiary.

Shader was sentenced to death July 15, 1927 with six others. Five of them were hanged. One is still at large. Shader was recaptured in Chicago July 21, 1928.

Today's petition will be acted on by the court when the court meets October 2.

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Jewelry and clothing valued at from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000 belonging to Mme. Ganna Walska, wife of Harold McCormick, harvester millionaire, was held by customs authorities today pending decision as to whether it is dutiable.

Mme. Walska contends she is a non-resident of the United States and that her goods purchased abroad are not subject to the import tax. The government's contention is that as the wife of Mr. McCormick she is a resident of this country and not entitled to exemption.

Perfect Oil Engine
for Airplane Use

Detroit, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Packard Motor Company has announced the successful testing of an oil-burning airplane motor, the first of its kind ever developed.

The demonstration was made here yesterday before a group of aeronautical engineers in a regulation Stinson-Detroler monoplane piloted by Walter Lees and Capt. L. M. Moonson, the latter designer of the engine.

The motor, which company officials claim marks a revolutionary step in the development of airplane power, is a radial air cooled type and develops 200 horsepower.

ROBINSON DELAYED

BY WALTER CHAMBLIN

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Robinson Special Car, Enroute to

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 20—(AP)—

Exactly 24 hours behind schedule,

Senator Joe T. Robinson today moved forward to Kentucky where, after delivering two addresses, he will close the first leg of a projected nation-wide campaign tour. His first speech will be at Owensboro tonight and the other at Paducah tomorrow.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee then proposes to return to Arkansas for a few days' rest at either his home in Little Rock or at

Hot Springs before starting on a tour which will carry him to the Pacific coast and back.

On his way across Georgia yesterday, the Senator nevertheless made up for some of the lost time by delivering six platform addresses in which he turned loose a verbal fire on the Republican record on prohibition enforcement and those who are opposed to Governor Smith because of his membership in the Catholic church.

Although a formal address in Atlanta had to be cancelled, he took advantage of a 15 minute stop in the station at that city to tell a crowd which awaited his arrival that he hoped and expected to return before the campaign was over and deliver the speech he had promised.

G. O. P. STATE DRIVE

Chicago, Sept. 20—(AP)—Republican state candidates, headed by

Louis L. Emmerson, nominee for Governor, will resume their speaking campaign in southern and central

Illinois next Monday with an afternoon mass meeting at Tuscola.

They will travel in two motor buses and hold

IF I HAD A COTTAGE
Written for The Christian Science Monitor

If I had a cottage, I'd trim it myself With hearth-rugs and pictures and jugs on the shelf;
I'd have an old kitchen with table well spread.

And, upstairs, a room with a goose-feather bed.

I'd work in my garden both early and late,
And people could talk to me over the gate

Of weather and roses and cinders and snails,
And help pass the time with all manner of tales.

And back to my cottage at night I would go,
And poke up my fire to a jolly bright glow;

And after I'd eaten and after I'd read I'd tumble to sleep in my goose-feather bed.

Party Honored Miss Alice Hetler

Misses Ruth Lambert, Fay Slain, Lucille Collins and Mary Lahey delightfully entertained last evening in honor of Miss Alice Hetler who will soon become the bride of Edward Rock.

The party was given at the home of Mrs. George Hunt of Fourth street and was a bunco and bridge party, attended by guests for three tables.

The favors were awarded to Miss Peggy Lahey who won the first favor at bunco; and Miss Mary Vaughn received the consolation favor. Miss Fay Slain won the first favor at bridge and Mrs. Howard Hall was awarded the consolation favor.

Charming decorations in pink and white were further emphasized with garden flowers in these shades.

Delicious refreshments were served and a happy social hour was enjoyed.

All present joined in presenting to Miss Hetler a handsome gift in silver for her home, some salad forks, with best wishes for her happiness.

TO SPEND WINTER IN LEWISBERG, TENNESSEE—

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Long of Rockford motored to Dixon and on Wednesday accompanied by Mrs. Mary D. Shippert of Galena avenue, who is an aunt of Mr. Long, they left for Lewisburg, Tennessee, where Mrs. Shippert will spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hersch.

Mrs. Hersch is the daughter of Mrs. Shippert.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST— Peaches, cereal, cream, baked French toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON— Ham and veal timbales, creamed carrots, shredded celery, cabbage, apple sauce, cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER— Vegetable plate, frozen cheese salad, fruit cup, milk, coffee.

Ham and Veal Timbales
One cup chopped veal and ham mixed, 1-3 cup stale bread crumbs, 3-4 cup milk, 2 teaspoons minced parsley, 2 eggs, salt and pepper.

Melt butter, add bread crumbs and milk and cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Add meat, parsley and eggs slightly beaten. Season with salt and pepper, the amount of seasoning depending on the saltiness of the meat.

Turn into buttered individual molds or custard cups, making cups not more than two-thirds full. Put cups into a pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper and bake 30 minutes in a hot oven. Turn out of molds onto a hot platter and serve.

High School Parent Teachers Assn. Meet.

The September meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Dixon High Schools was held in the Assembly room of the North Side High School at 3:45 Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. F. G. Eno, the president, reported that personal letters and copies of the program for the year would be mailed the parents of each high school pupil before the October meeting.

Miss Mary Ann Young was elected secretary, to take the place left vacant by the absence of Miss Hatterger. Mr. Potter was elected delegate to the district P. T. A. convention to be held at Galena, Oct. 5th, with Mrs. Harry Warner as alternate.

The program, which was in charge of Mrs. Warner, chairman of the program committee, included informal talks by Supt. Potter and Principals Frazer and Lancaster.

Mr. Potter expressed his appreciation of the cooperation of the society and his hopes of increased membership in the association. Mr. Lancaster spoke of the objections of secondary education, while Mr. Frazer took up the social side of high school life. The talks were both interesting and instructive, and of a type no parent could afford to miss.

The meeting closed with a social hour in charge of Mesdames Wallace, King, Nelson, Weyant, all mothers of North Side seniors.

Thursday Reading Circle Entertained

The members of the Thursday Reading Circle were entertained at the home of Mrs. J. W. Watts and Clea Bunnell Monday afternoon in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Richard Cortright.

After an impromptu program delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Mrs. Cortright was remembered with many gifts, including a birthday cake and the best wishing of all.

MISS HUTCHINSON TO TEACH IN MARQUETTE SCHOOL—

Miss Olive Hutchinson and father, J. A. Hutchinson, who have been making their home in Moline, Ill., stopped off at Dixon yesterday on their way to Marquette, Mich. where Miss Hutchinson has accepted a position as critic teacher in the Marquette State Teachers School.

WCTU Convention In Amboy Was Interesting Event

The 35th annual convention of the Lee County Women's Christian Temperance Union was held Tuesday in the Congregational church in Amboy. The president, Mrs. Charlotte Merrow of Amboy, presided.

The meeting opened with the reading of the fifteenth chapter of John by Mrs. Fred Hobbs of Dixon. Miss Mabel Kinney of Amboy, offered prayer, "America, the Beautiful" was sung.

The address of welcome was ably given by Mrs. Alma Lewis. She said in part, "Wonderful things have happened through Prohibition, and we are going to keep what we have accomplished."

The response was given by Mrs. Flora Timothy in her usual courteous manner.

A short address was given by Rev. C. F. Kerr of Amboy, who gave as his topic, "The Present Outlook of Prohibition and Its Challenge."

He said "Political parties are not interested in reform. There is little difference in the planks and platforms. One man has dared to do something which any other never did, and I think that is one quality in Al Smith which both parties commend."

Mr. Hoover is on the defensive. I am not alarmed. Our task is not finished. I compare our situation with the scriptural reference, When the Lord spoke to Joshua, and said "There is much land yet which you must acquire."

The State Secretary, Miss Ephie Marshall called the women's attention to the importance of leaflets, especially "Canada and Liquor," and urged their distribution. In part she said "If we concede that Illinois is going dry, we want it to mount up into the hundreds of thousands. We are receiving requests from Christian Endeavor and various other societies for leaflets. We're sowing the seed wherever we can and will prove to the wets that we do believe in the 18th amendment."

The State Convention will be held in Evanston. The report of number of new members during the year will be broadcast, we need all the recruits we can get. You women who were older in the work know that you were to fight the strongest organization for crime. It is easier for us than it was for Frances Willard to do what she did. The convention will be held on the same site of the church which Miss Willard attended. In closing, "Now Women, let us put on the whole armor of God."

"Blest be the tie that binds" sung by the gathering of members and friends.

Noontide prayer was offered by Mrs. Alice Mismann of Dixon.

Afternoon
The executive meeting was held at 1 o'clock in the church auditorium. The following were appointed as directors of the various departments:

Child Welfare—Miss Carrie Swartz, Dixon.
Christian Citizenship—Mrs. Mary Schmahl, Amboy.
Evangelistic—Mrs. Anna Klein, Amboy.
Flower Mission—Mrs. Matilda Holby, Franklin Grove.
Loyal Temperance Legion—Mrs. Hettie Dawson, Dixon.
Publicity—Mrs. Merion Maben, Dixon.

Temperance and Missions—Mrs. Ruby Reigle, Franklin Grove.
Young Peoples Branch—Mrs. Charlotte Merrow, Amboy.
Economics of Prohibition—Mrs. Alice Mismann, Dixon.

The afternoon session was opened with prayer by Miss Callie Morgan, Dixon. The members joining in singing "Yield Not to Temptation." A song composed by Mabel Kinney was read by Mrs. Lewis. "It's a Long Way to Prohibition."

Reports of Unions showed the splendid work being done by all.

A vocal solo and encore were beautifully rendered by Mrs. Archie Klein, Dixon. The memorial service was conducted by Mrs. O. E. Strook, Dixon, closing with a fitting song, rendered by Mrs. Archie Klein with Mrs. Strook at the piano.

Miss Marshall gave another instructive address, referring to the impressive memorial service she said: "As we come in this one more of our annual meetings we feel that these memorial services bind us closer to those who are gone on. They are not here, but they look from above and guide us on the way. We are told to do God's work. When His people were in distress, He put Esther on the throne, and after He had His great nation established, He found there was a great curse that was destroying His people. He called a handful of women together in a prayer meeting. They went out and kneeled in the ice and snow and prayed that the saloons might be closed. That was not all. He mobilized the women and even sent them over the ocean. They went into the public schools, Sunday schools, and legislative halls, went into homes and converted women, and their families. Finally they brought about the passing of the Eighteenth Amendment, and now it is up to us to uphold that amendment. If prohibition has not been successful there would not be 90 percent more money in the banks. There was nine million dollars worth of furniture sold last year. One million bath rooms were put into country homes last year. The government is doing great work when it has closed the Rainbow Gardens. There was a cleaning up in Illinois this year. I believe it was the result of the prayer meetings that were held. The work belongs to the church people. When I give you this message I can hear Francis Willard when she said, 'I see victory in the sun and in the stars.'"

In 1913 dance halls were inspected in Chicago. Friday and Saturday nights and 14,000 girls were drunk in one night. Last year on Friday and Saturday nights, 1,400 were found drunk in the same places. Al Smith had all laws for good of humanity repealed since being governor. Is Smith greater than his own party? My message to you as you go from this place, "Let us think as Francis Willard, and see 'victory through all'."

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. Charlotte Merrow, Amboy; Vice President—Mrs. Mary Strook, Dixon; Rec Secretary—Mrs. Lizzie Gray, Amboy; Cor Secretary—Miss Carrie Swartz, Dixon; Treasurer—Mrs. Alma Lewis, Amboy; Auditor—Mrs. Minnie Lahman, Franklin Grove.

The resolutions committee submitted the following:

"In this our 35th annual convention we acknowledge the leadership of our Great Master, and our own obligations to follow where he leads. Therefore, be it resolved

1 that we urge upon our unions the duty of holding fast our older members and securing new ones, especially among the younger women; and mothers.

1 That we urge upon our union tional work, and that in view of the advancing spread of the use of tobacco among the young, that we give that subject special attention.

3 We recognize the importance of becoming familiar with the progress of temperance in our own and every land and to this end recommend and urge the reading of the Union Signal.

4 We urge the importance of bringing prohibition facts before the people through the local press.

5 We further urge a more careful attention on the part of each union to the keeping of correct and full reports of its work, and the forwarding to the proper superintendents at the close of the year.

6 We urge the full support and commendation of officials, judges and law-makers, who are helping to enforce the law.

7 That we tender our thanks and appreciation to the Amboy Union for their courteous manner in serving a bountiful scramble dinner to the members and friends and to the church and to Miss Marshall for coming to us with her message. The convention closed with "The Victor's Song."

Were Married in Dixon Wednesday

Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock a simple wedding ceremony was solemnized in Dixon, when Miss Velma Chapman of Rock Falls and Joseph B. Droste of Sterling were united in marriage. Rev. Fr. M. Foley officiated at the single ring service, which he performed in the rectory to St. Patrick's church. Attending the happy young couple was Miss Margaret Bartel, the bride's intimate friend, and Lawrence Droste, brother of the groom.

The bride was very charmingly gowned in tan satin canton crepe, fashioned with a ruffled skirt and ecru lace trimming. Her hat matched the gown and other accessories were in harmonizing shades of brown. She carried a beautiful shower bouquet cross of tea roses. Miss Bartel was prettily attired in a costume of blue georgette crepe and accessories in ecru tone. Her flowers were a corsage of tea roses.

After the marriage service the bridal party motored to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Chapman, 406 Third Avenue, Rock Falls, where at 11 o'clock an elaborate wedding dinner was served, covers being laid at one table for the bridal party and members of the two families. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the table decorations and the floral pieces.

During the afternoon hours the newly wedded pair slipped away by motor on a short honeymoon trip. The bride's traveling attire was a trim tailored suit of navy blue.

Yesterday's bridal pair are highly esteemed in Sterling and Rock Falls in which two cities they have always made their homes. Mrs. Droste possesses a sweet personality. Mr. Droste is a young man of good character and clean habits. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Droste.

A large circle of friends join in congratulating the couple and wishing them happiness and prosperity in the years of their married life. They will be at home after October 1st, at 409 West 7th street, Sterling.

Miss Weyant Was Guest of Honor

Last evening Mrs. Ralph Gonnerman and Miss Merriman Deveney entertained at the home of Mrs. Gonnerman with a most enjoyable bridge party and shower honoring Miss Edna Weyant, who in a few days is to become the bride of Earl James.

There were guests for four tables at bridge, the decorations for the happy affair being in yellow and green, with a profusion of lovely garden flowers.

Miss Catherine Lehman received the favor for high honors at bridge; Miss Esther Kested receiving the second favor and Miss Anna Hoffmann the third favor.

After bridge tempting refreshments were served and then Miss Weyant was given a delightful surprise in the form of a kitchen shower which caused much merriment, best wishes and many clever verses from the givers accompanying the gifts which will grace the kitchen in the new home.

The evening proved one of great pleasure for everyone attending and Miss Weyant was extended in advance the best wishes for happiness from all.

Financial Secretary Happily Surprised

Percy W. Busby, financial secretary of Dixon Lodge No. 39, I. O. O. F., was given a surprise Tuesday evening. He had returned home from lodge, and in a few minutes went to answer the door bell, and was very much surprised to see the members of the lodge standing on the porch waiting to help him celebrate his birthday.

The evening was spent playing pinocle and five hundred until a late hour. A tempting luncheon was served after which the guests departed wishing the victim of the surprise many happy returns of the day.

Sunday School Class Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Arnould of North Galena avenue delightfully entertained the members of the Young Married People's Class of the Presbyterian Sunday school at their home on Tuesday evening. A large attendance of members was present and a happy evening was spent in music and games and tempting refreshments were served.

OLD GOLD wins at the opera ...when charming Lucrezia Bori makes the Blindfold cigarette test

"When anything happens to my throat and I cannot sing, it seems to me as though the world stops!"

"So you can imagine that I choose my cigarettes quite carefully and that I welcomed the opportunity to make this scientific test."

"It was most interesting, for one of the four cigarettes was so smooth and gentle . . . and yet of such fine flavor . . . that I chose it at once. It was an OLD GOLD."

MISS BORI was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing her taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

LUCREZIA BORI . . . the world's greatest lyric soprano . . . whose success at the Metropolitan in "Tosca" and "Maiden" . . . "La Boheme," etc., have been internationally admired.

MISS BORI as Melisande in Maeterlinck's beautiful opera "Pelleas and Melisande."

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

The simple secret of OLD GOLD'S charm.

Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse, heavy top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. These golden-ripe heart-leaves give OLD GOLD their honey-like smoothness. That's why you can pick them.

VAUDEVILLE TOUR?

Tuesday night's radio program was good. Funny too. After all, funny things are good for us, now and then. The Two Black Crows were fine and Al Smith wasn't so bad. He kept his audience in Omaha roaring with laughter. Al is a jolly good fellow. If a good kiddier is what we need in the White House we know of no one who could qualify better than Alfred. He must have all he could do to keep from laughing himself when he told how high the prices of farm products were under Mr. Wilson's administration. Kaiser Wilhelm should get the credit for that, Al.

Al got a good laugh on that, along with the rest of his wise cracks. Were they laughing with him or at him?

HIGHER TARIFFS AND NO PROTEST.

Senator Smoot, chairman of the senate committee on finance, predicts that if Hoover is elected higher tariff duties will be put into effect, and no protest is heard from any quarter. It seems strange that there is no republican insurgent or "progressive" to go about setting the prairies on fire in protest. It seems more strange that there is not a whimper from the democratic side.

How far we must be from 1910 and 1912 when the insurgent group of his own party were crucifying President Taft for his Winona speech in which he said the Payne-Aldrich tariff law was the best ever framed, and, of course, democrats made the most of the cry for blood.

It shows how same people can be thrown into panic by demagogues seeking United States senatorships or presidential nominations for themselves by decrying the works of others.

If there is difference between conditions now and then, we fail to discern them. Perhaps the tariff wizards can show some difference in levels of tariff schedules, but what do the people know of that, and what do they care? They have known that the Fordney-McCumber law is a high tariff law and that under the flexible provisions the president has raised several schedules higher than they were fixed in the law. Yet a spirited and close campaign is going along without mention of either of these facts.

Democrats even are pretending to be for higher tariffs, so they are unusually quiet about republican tariff laws this year.

Senator Smoot's prediction of higher duties only serves to remind us that we can become excited to the extent of burning down our own house when a few demagogues get to running for office.

Over the picture of Ima Leslie, cow-milking champion, some facetious captioner has written "Anudder Champion." Which all will agree is utterly absurd.

Things you never read in the newspapers: "The visiting candidate commented critically on the dirty appearance of the town and the apparent unintelligence of the people."

Somebody sent Al Smith another pair of suspenders. It seems the Whispering Campaign has given him no suspense whatever.

Chicago police the other day were ordered to arrest Al Capone on sight. It is possible they have begun to suspect him?

Doctors in Arkansas City have formed a credit association. It's getting so that you can't even beat a doctor out of a bill any more.

Chicago is planning a 75-story building. Probably on the theory that you have to get out of range in some direction.

The new wave theory of matter must be taking hold, judging by the number of beauty shops here and there these days.

Why is it that a dentist, after gagging a man, always seems to have some important question to ask?

Today's queer quotation: "He has been in politics for thirty years and is too modest to do himself justice on the stump."

A record-breaking number of tourists comes back to America with every ship. And a record-breaking number report "there was very little new to see."

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNECK

Again the pig squealed, very loud, which pleased the little Tiny crowd. "Hey, what's the matter?" Coppy cried. "Is squealing how you sing?" "Well, I should say not," snapped the pig. "If you were me, you'd dance a jig. This barber's razor's very dull. It pulls like everything!"

The barber dog then said, "Ah me! Your skin's as tender as can be, but if you'll wait a minute I will soap your face some more. I'll sharpen up my razor, too. Most anything to quiet you. And then you must hold still or else your face will be all sore."

The Tinymites watched the barber soap the pig's face. Clowny said, "I hope I never have to go through that. Suppose you'd get a taste!" The barber then said, "Whoops! Here goes!" He doctored poor Clowny on the nose, and laughingly said, "Pardon me! I had some soap to waste."

The others chuckled loud, and long. "You see, you always get in wrong," said Carpy. "You should never talk to folks you do not know." The bunch then watched the barber shave the pig who seemed to love to rave. "Come on," exclaimed one Tiny. "It is time for us to go."

"I cannot stand to hear a squeal. That noise to me does not appeal. There must be something else that we can see, and quite enjoy." They walked along and hipped, and hopped. Then suddenly wee Scouty stopped. He gazed off in the distance. Then he shouted, loud, "Oh, boy!"

"Just see the dogs and little cats. They all have on their coats and hats. And look! They're holding books. They do not do that as a rule." Then Carpy, with a knowing grin, turned to the rest and broke right in. "Why, shucks, I know what that is for. They all are bound for school."

(The Tinymites peek in the school-house in the next story).

COMPTON NEWS

Compton.—J. S. Archer and family left Wednesday to join G. D. Archer and family at Montello, Wis., where they will enjoy two weeks of outing together.

Paul G. Fricke was here during the week from Rockford calling on his former friends and associates.

William Eggers left Sunday for Grand Forks, N. Dakota, where he will remain for a fortnight looking after his farm land near there.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Hills visited over Sunday at Joliet with Mr. and Mrs. A. Shingler of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kaiser's oldest daughter underwent an operation at the Compton Hospital late last Saturday evening.

Mrs. Edith Unger of Rochelle was here Tuesday looking after business matters.

H. M. Chaon and family enjoyed Sunday in Beloit, Wis.

Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Cook arrived here by auto Friday afternoon, from Rutland, Vermont. They were accompanied to Chicago by some friends, and spent the remainder of the week with his sister, Mrs. L. D. Miller, before returning to Chicago to join their friends.

By the last of the week, the construction company will have completed the stretch of road north of Willow Creek bridge. This will permit travel on concrete from the Viola town line to Rochelle. The road which is at present closed to travel, out south of town to Mendota will be opened during the middle of the week. This will give us cement to Mendota, although the Bureau Creek bridge will not be opened as a detour has been built on the west side. The gap north of town to the Chicago road and over to the end of the cement is being surveyed by the state department, verifying the rumor that the road will be built around the Montavon farm instead of through the west side as previously laid out.

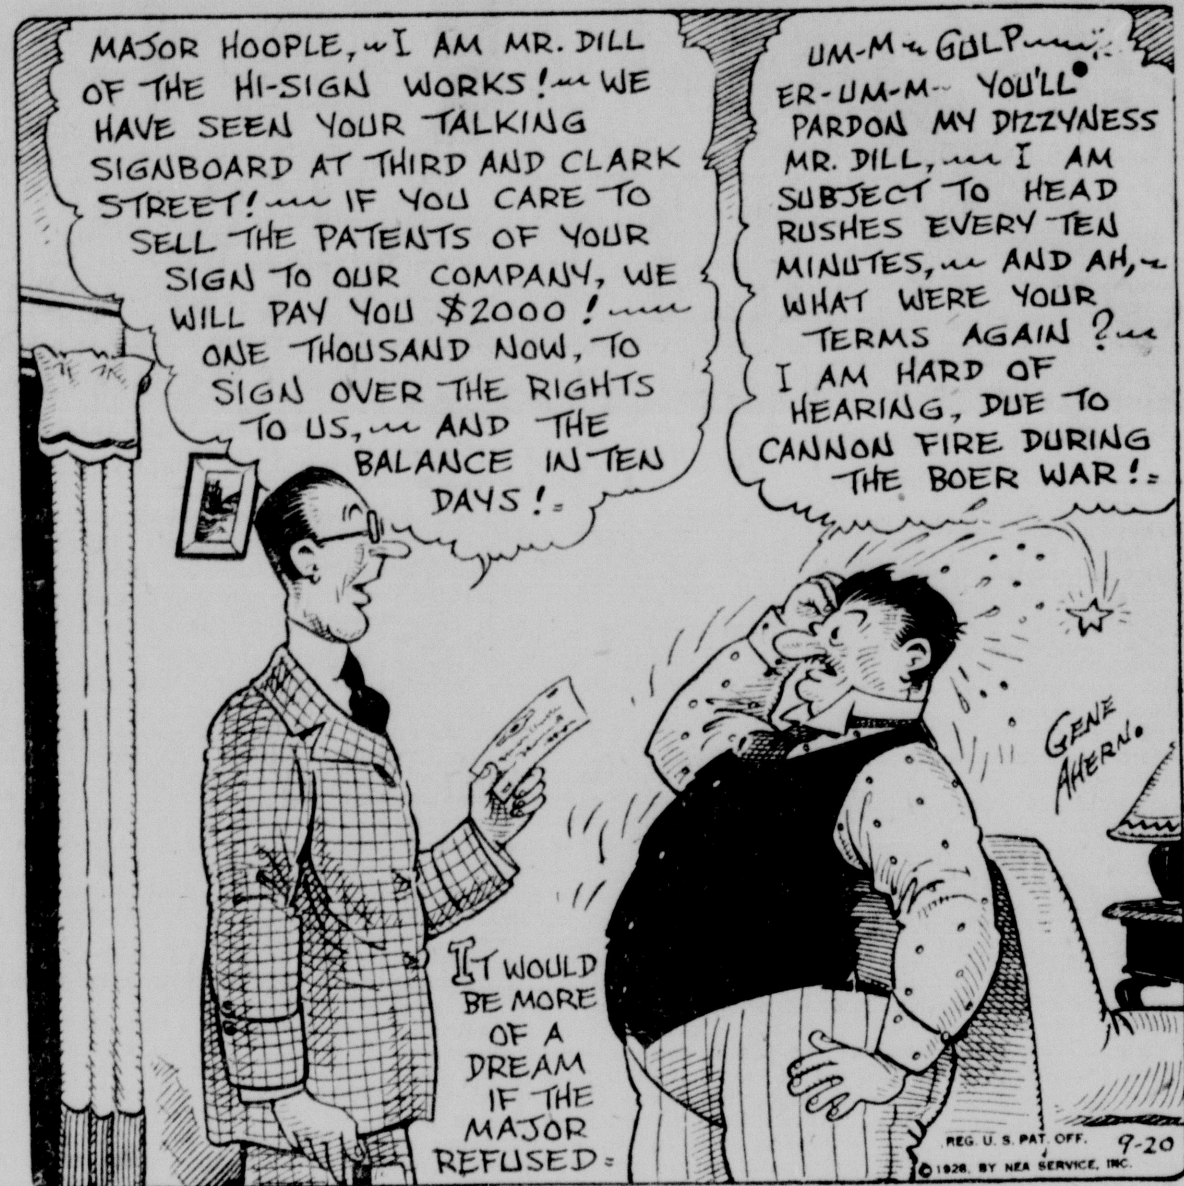

Miss Helen Fox and Miss Helen Butler left Wednesday morning for Evanston where they have arranged to attend the Northwestern University.

Belleville, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Between 4000 and 5000 miners are at work in the Belleville sub-district of the Illinois United Mine Workers, according to Walter Nesbit, Secretary-Treasurer of the Illinois organization.

"More mines are preparing to resume work and some that have been idle for year or more are in operation following the ratification of a new agreement," said Nesbit. Miners who have failed to return to work are those residing in communities where the "Save-the-Union" and I. W. W.'s are, he said.

Nesbit said that since the adoption of the new wage agreement it is reported that some of coal operators are contemplating elimination of mechanical loaders. He said the loaders were the cause of much of the dissatisfaction.

More State Miners Back on Job Today

Centerville, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Two hundred coal miners started work at No. 7 mine here today under the new wage scale agreement. The mine has worked only intermittently since the Jacksonville agreement expired April 1, 1927. Glen Ridge mine, employing 300 men is still idle. Drivers and repairmen refuse to work for $6.10 per day and the diggers cannot work with these men idle.

DIEHARDS IN NEW ROLE DEFEND WORKERS' BEER

London.—(AP)—Leaders of the conservative party have been accused of making common cause with laborites in protecting the working man's beer.

There is a distinction in that the complaint against the conservatives is that they favor "brewery interests" while the labor party frankly champions the cause of the full beer pail. Jack Jones who represents a labor constituency of the east end of London is one of the most outspoken opponents of reform measures aimed to curtail the sale of beer.

HEALTH DIET ADVICE

Why the Fast Way to Health
 QUESTIONS ON HEALTH & DIET WILL BE ANSWERED BY DR. MCCOY WHO CAN BE ADDRESSED BY CARD OF THIS PAPER. ENCLOSURE STAMPED ADDRESS ENVELOPE FOR REPLY.

Dr. McCoy, Los Angeles specialist will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Telegraph. Enclosure stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

NATURAL TONICS

John Dryden epitomized much common sense and wisdom in his little verse:

"Better to hunt in fields for health unbought,
 Than fee the doctor for a nauseous draught.
 The wise for cure on exercise depend;
 God never made his work for man to mend."

This was a clever poet's method of saying: "Study and follow the laws of health, and health will come to you. The power of self-healing is endowed by God on those who live wholesomely."

Here are a few aids to health:
 1. Brisk open air exercises strengthen and purify the body. One who wishes to keep himself in first class condition should take a long walk daily, fast enough to accelerate the heart and make the breath come deeply, continuing until tired but not exhausted. A person who is troubled with a sluggish circulation will discover that a moderate run of one or two blocks daily, in addition to the walking, is one of the best tonics.

All games are wholesome, such as hiking, tennis, boxing, golf and swimming, especially in the fresh air and sunshine. One should never carry exercises to the extreme, nor when swimming, stay in the water too long.

2—One should eat only the foods which produce efficiency. Any surplus food, or foods that you do not require, over-burden your system and handicap your progress. The weekly menus published in the newspapers carrying my articles are calculated to meet all the requirements of a normal, healthy human being.

3—Since the lungs are such important organs for purifying the blood, one should pay particular attention to practicing deep breathing many times daily and particularly whenever one exercises, or feels tired.

4—Water is the most important medium for conveying toxic materials out of the body and one should use much of it, either in juicy foods, such as vegetables and fruits, or in the form of pure water—distilled is the best. Most of the water should be taken between meals; never drink more than one glassful at meal time.

5—Every adult should have at least eight hours of sleep per day, and children should have more—perhaps ten hours for children about six years of age and twelve hours for those younger. Sleeping out of doors is the most valuable, but if one sleeps in a room he should be sure that all the windows are wide open to secure a good circulation of air.

6—At least one and possibly two short cold showers daily, followed by a brisk rub-down, prove to be a wonderful vitality tonic and are sufficient to keep the skin clear and the pores open without the addition of hot baths.

7—Mental calmness and control are of the utmost importance for maintaining the highest efficiency. Try to maintain your mental poise at all times and under all conditions. "Flying off the handle" is destructive to health, because it actually destroys the mental, nervous, and digestive systems. Try to re-act pleasantly to life rather than unpleasantly. Usually it doesn't matter so much what happens to us as the way we take it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: A. L. asks: "Will you tell me what can be done to check perspiration from the armpits? Are the patent drugs which are advertised safe to use?"

ANSWER: The best way to stop excessive sweating under the arms is to induce a good sweat all over the body three or four times a week. If all of the pores of the skin are active you will not be troubled with an abnormal amount of perspiration under the arms.

QUESTION: D. K. writes: "Kindly explain the principles of the milk diet and how it cures disease?"

ANSWER: The milk diet may be of some benefit in curing disease if the patient is really undernourished, but as most of those who take the milk diet are really over-fed before they start, they do not get from the milk the anticipated benefits. More sickness comes from over-eating than from under-eating. In some cases the milk diet is beneficial because it is a simple diet, and if only three or four quarts a day are used there is a beneficial effect upon the whole alimentary canal. This is mostly because of the rest from other foods, and from faulty food combinations which are so commonly used. What to keep in mind is that the body cures itself, and whatever diet is taken, it must be one which will not interfere with the natural cure.

QUESTION: Q. L. asks: "Are sties caused from impure blood or defective eyes, and what is the remedy?"

 ANSWER: The acidosis which makes sties or boils possible is created through wrong eating habits. The irritating cause may be from rubbing the eyes and infecting the eyelids with a common streptococcus bacterium. Defective vision has its effect in producing sties, mainly because the one who is suffering from eye-strain is liable to rub the eyes more frequently.

SIoux INDIANS HEAR SEN. CURTIS
TELL WHAT REPUBLICANS HAVE DONE
FOR INDIANS ON GOVT. RESERVATION

Republican Vice Presidential Nominee Spoke at
this Afternoon

Spencer, Iowa, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Questioned by a heckler during his address at the Clay county fair yesterday afternoon, Senator Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, warmly defended his record on the McNary-Haugen bill and the record of the Republican administration on farm relief and tax reduction.

"What about the vetoes of the McNary-Haugen bill?" asked the heckler in the midst of the address.

"If the Republicans are elected," Curtis replied, "we will have a bill passed—a good bill—and it will be signed by Herbert Hoover."

"It has taken you a long time to find it out," the heckler continued. "Yes, you are one of those Democrats," Curtis shouted back, "who have been sitting around here for seven years saying we have done nothing. Read the record. You don't know what's in the McNary-Haugen bill."

"When the heckler asked Curtis a question on taxes, the nominee replied: 'I just told you about that but you are too damned dumb to understand it.'"

At this the crowd cheered Curtis.

SPOKE TO INDIANS

Rosebud, S. D., Sept. 20.—Senator Curtis, Republican vice presidential nominee, today spoke before a gathering of Sioux Indians at the government reservation here. He said: "We are here today to celebrate the opening of the great Sioux Reservation fifty years ago. It is fitting that I give you a brief history of the tribe from the time it first appears in the accounts of the white men."

"The Dakota, which name means 'allies,' are the largest division of the Siouan family and are commonly known as Sioux. The first meeting between any Western Siouans and the whites was in 1541, nearly four hundred years ago, when DeSoto, the Spanish explorer, reached the Quapaw villages in East Arkansas. In 1640 mention is made of the main northwestern group consisting of the Winnebago, Dakota and Assiniboin. The Sioux have been an important factor in the history of this section of the United States."

"In 1763 Lieutenant Gorrell, an English officer, said that the Sioux was the greatest nation of Indians ever yet found; that not more than 2,000 were ever armed with fire-arms; and that the rest depended upon bows and arrows and darts which they

"It is estimated that about 10,000 Indians served in the Army and 2,000 in the Navy in the World War. In the first year of the war the Commissioner of Indian Affairs estimated there were approximately 8,000 in the service. Most of them entered by voluntary enlistment although under the rulings of the Draft Board many could have claimed exemption on the ground of non-citizenship. It is not known that a single one claimed exemption."

"Considering the large number of old and infirm Indians and others not acceptable under the draft, leaving about 33,000 of military eligibility, it may be said that a representation of 10,000 even much less 12,000, in camps and actually engaged in warfare, furnishes a ratio to population unsurpassed, if equalled, by any other race or nation engaged in the war."

"It is estimated that the amount of Liberty Bonds bought by Indians was $25,000,000. In regard to Red Cross work actual data justifies a report in round numbers of 10,000 Indian Red Cross memberships, 100,000 hospital garments, knitted, and miscellaneous supplies. Some 500 Christmas boxes were sent from boarding schools, the student body being very proud of their soldier representatives."

"One story will serve to illustrate the enthusiastic and unselfish response of the Indians to the Red Cross appeals for funds. At a public gathering of Indians, among the scores who lifted hands as contributors was an old woman of 75 who spread all fingers of one hand. The superintendent understanding that one finger meant a sign to give $10.00 recorded her for $50.00. A few days later when she limped into the Agency to fill out her Red Cross card she was indignant at the amount and explained through an interpreter that she meant $500. The superintendent told her she only had $513.00 to her credit. Quickly came the answer: '$13.00 left! That's enough for me.'"

"As for their conduct in actual warfare the following extract from a letter of Dr. Joseph K. Dixon, an assistant of Rodman Wanamaker, tells the story:

"In order to gather data for a book that I am writing on the Indian's participation in the war, I have visited scores of camps and hospitals and made photographs of more than 250 Indians, and the officers in whose commands they were brigaded. The stories are thrilling; scores of Indians have won the D. S. C.; hundreds of them have lost either an eye, a leg or an arm; and an Indian company in the Thirty-sixth Division was almost entirely wiped out; and an Indian regiment, the Three Hundred and Sixty-fifth Infantry, Ninetieth Division, went out 1460 strong and came back with 160 men."

"There are many tales of individual heroism which I do not have time to recount here, such as that of the young Indian who, with two or three comrades attacked a machine-gun nest and when left as the only survivor faced all that remained of the enemy gunners and killed or captured the entire group. Though he received eleven wounds in action he recovered. There is a story of a full-blood Sioux of South Dakota cited for bravery in swift running as a messenger at Villcourt, and many similar stories."

"Recognition of the war service of our Indians was given by making all those who served in the war, citizens of the United States. I myself, reported this bill on September 27, 1919. Later, on June 2, 1924, all Indians were made citizens by an amendment proposed by me."

"Another mark of recognition of these services is a formal engraved certificate issued by President Calvin Coolidge, July 4, 1924, copies of which have been distributed among the various gathering places of the tribes. There is one copy which hangs in the main office of Mr. Burke, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. It is a decoration of which he is extremely proud. It reads as follows:

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
To all to Whom these presents Shall Come, Greetings:

The thanks of the nation is extended through the President, Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, to the American Indians, through the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, for their unswerving loyalty and patriotism; the splendid service rendered; the willing sacrifices made; and the bravery of their sons in the military and naval service of the United States when the nation was in peril during the World War of 1917-1918.

July 4, 1924. CALVIN COOLIDGE.

"A Commissioner of Indian Affairs has said: 'The complete story would be a voluminous narration of scenes, episodes, eloquent appeal, stirring action, and glorious sacrifices that might better be written into a deathless book by some master poet born out of the heroic travail of an embattled era.'"

"The Sioux tribe numbers about 22,000 living in North and South Dakota, and Minnesota, of which number about 7,000 are at Rosebud. It is one of the largest and strongest tribes of Indians in the United States. Besides its splendid war record, it has an excellent peace-time record."

"In 1878 when the Sioux Reservation was founded there were 841 children in school. In 1927, there were 5035. This speaks well for your appreciation of the advantages of education. But I understand there are still some among you who do not realize its full importance. The boys who served in the war realize it though. One boy stated that he found, when placed in contact with white young men, that his education was very limited and that he needed to go to school several years, and that he intended to return to school."

"Another said he found a man could not get anywhere unless he knew something, even in the Army, and for that reason he intended to complete his work at school."

"This is true. Only by education can your children have the true benefits and happiness of civilization to which they are justly entitled. I earnestly advise you to see that nothing prevents them from making use of the opportunity which the government schools afford. The parents should make their children go to school and not permit them to stay away. It is natural for children to avoid going to school if they can. They do not realize its importance in their future life. Therefore, it is the parents' duty to make them go."

"In these days it is necessary for everyone to work and be a useful member of society. This is just as true for you as for anyone else. You must look on the serious side of life, accept and carry on your responsibilities not only to yourself but to your families and to the country as a whole. I am proud of you and I know that my efforts which have resulted in your being made citizens of this wonderful country of ours have not been wasted. What you have done so far justifies my belief in you and I am sure you will continue to make progress."

"The advances you have made in farming and stock-raising are very gratifying, and you are to be congratulated. In 1878 there were only 1624 Sioux engaged in farming and only 4277 acres of land under cultivation. In 1928 there were 4173 engaged and the cultivated acres numbered 87,712. Whereas in the beginning 89 percent of the Sioux were given their subsistence by the government, in recent years there have been a great improvement and you have become self-supporting. From 1911 to 1927 the number of Sioux rations decreased from 6760 to 2548, which is a fine record. This is splendid, but there is room for still greater improvement. As I have said, every man must work. You must overcome any tendency or desire to neglect work for other pursuits. In the early days of your history you were famous dancers and it is claimed that the other tribes took their dances from you. But this does not justify excessive indulgence in modern dancing. Conditions are changed. You now have responsibilities which you should remember. While I am in this cautioning mood let me speak about the bootlegging and liquor-drinking of which I understand there is too much around the reservation. I particularly advise you against the use of liquor, known in the early days as fire-water. I know you will obey all laws."

"The value of Sioux tribal property decreased from $13,339,937 in 1911 to $4,916,814 in 1927 owing to the allotment of land in severalty and the payment of the tribal fund to individual members of the tribe. During the same period the value of individually owned property increased $36,172,204 to $68,813,502. That is a good record. Above all let me warn you to hold on to your land—do not sell it or part with it in any manner. It is your means of livelihood. You should make use and increased use of it to better your conditions. The ownership of land is very important and you are much better off in this respect than many white men who envy you. Retain the advantage you have by keeping your land."

"Commissioner Burke has told me about the splendid progress of the Sioux Indians especially during the past five years, through the medium of the five-year industrial program, the farm chapters and women's auxiliaries in the various districts, the boys' and girls' 4-H Club work, etc. The five-year program sets a definite objective for each year, with certain specific things for every family to do. This is the only way to succeed in anything. It is just like the building here at the school. There first had to be a plan in somebody's mind, which he put down on paper, and then the houses were built into the plan."

"To be successful it is essential that you be organized. This is the purpose of the farm chapters for the men and the auxiliaries for the women—to develop an organized community spirit, an intelligent interest in your own problems and those of the community as a whole. I understand that here at Rosebud you have 408 chapter members. These chapters help to teach the men how to have more and better crops, and encourage them to greater efforts."

"If there are any of you who do not belong, I hope you will realize I have your best interests at heart when I advise you to join and to co-operate in this work. I am informed that there soon will be sent to you an agricultural expert to help you work out your farm problem. He is a man who has had many years of experience helping farmers throughout the country with his special knowledge. He will be of great value to you. He is willing and anxious to help you and I hope that you will avail yourself of his help to the fullest extent."

"The Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club work is an important enterprise which organizes the young people all over the United States into standard clubs under trained leadership. The children learn by actual practice to grow the best crops, to raise better pigs and calves, and to do many other things necessary to a well rounded life."

"I understand that nearly a thousand Sioux boys and girls, including about 400 at Rosebud, are enrolled in the clubs and that they must finance their projects and comply with all the rules just like the white children; also, that last year, besides winning many local and state prizes, several Sioux boys and girls were awarded free trips to the National Club Congress at Chicago in competition with the whites. The success of the children has been an inspiration to their parents and has spurred them to greater efforts."

"I wish to say a few words about your homes and their effect on your health, happiness and prosperity. The figures show that the number of permanent homes has increased from 659 in 1878 to 4608 in 1927. A good record. It is the ambition of every man to own his home—a nice-looking, comfortable one, kept in good repair and condition, inside and out. A permanent home is one of the marks of high civilization. You are civilized and each family should have its own home. You must make your way in life like everyone else, through tilling the soil, raising livestock, or through some occupation for which you have been fitted in the government schools. You can do this, but it requires hard and sustained effort."

"It is the duty of the man to provide this home for his family by working diligently and intelligently in the cultivation of his land or the raising of his cattle—the farm chapters have mentioned will help greatly."

"I understand that there are many women here at Rosebud and throughout the Sioux country who are members of the Women's Auxiliary which teaches them how to have better homes and to keep them properly—teaches them the value and convenience of modern improvements and labor-saving devices; teaches them to become capable in providing the home atmosphere so essential to happiness and to keeping their men-folks and children in good health."

"While a large number of you have good houses, yet there are many who do not. I am informed that a special campaign is being waged to help you to provide yourselves with improved homes as rapidly as you show a desire to have them and a capacity to use them properly. Congress has made available a reimbursable fund to help you get agricultural implements and machinery, seed and other necessary things, and to help you get better homes so that every able-bodied Indian has the opportunity to improve his condition and become an independent, useful member of the community in which he lives. I am informed that in recent years there seems to be more tuberculosis among you than formerly and that an additional tuberculosis sanatorium is planned to take care of the sick. But the proper thing to do is to prevent contracting the disease and this can be done only by you yourselves living under sanitary conditions. I earnestly recommend that you make use to the fullest extent of the health facilities which the government has provided, and that you listen to and practice the health education which is available to you. You should make every effort to learn as much as possible about the things to do and the things not to do to guard your health. This same service is given throughout the country to all our people and they gladly co-operate with the authorities for their own good. You should do the same, and I am sure that you will."

"I am sure that the Sioux will continue to improve and to progress until they have taken full advantage of their opportunities and thus become independent, useful citizens all with well-kept homes and farms. Citizenship involves responsibilities as well as privileges. I hope that you will not only accept the privileges of citizenship, but also its responsibilities. One of the things you should do is to vote, that is, to take an active and intelligent interest in the way the affairs of the government of the United States are conducted. You have a voice in what shall be done; use it. I want all of you who are of legal age to vote for me and my party, the Republican Party, but even so I would rather have you vote against me than not vote at all."

Springfield—(AP)—Edgar Lee Masters, lawyer, poet and writer of novels, has attempted to vision the life in the New Salem of Abraham Lincoln and his acquaintances, friends and foes, as characters, in "Jack Kelso," a dramatic poem, just published.

Kelso is known to history as the companion of Lincoln, who taught him to enjoy Shakespeare and Robert Burns. In Masters' poem he becomes a universal character witnessing the trend of American history from 1831 to the present time, viewing the Black Hawk war with Lincoln, and in World War days standing before "Abe Lincoln of New Salem. Mighty in bronze."

The book ends with Kelso's death, imagining he sees Lincoln, and hailing him with this apostrophe: "The good you did increases year by year."

Springfield—(AP)—R. B. Miller, chief state forester, left Springfield today for southern Illinois where he will be launched the first survey ever cooperatively undertaken by the state and federal governments to determine the damage and danger from timber fires.

Murray Bruner of Louisville, Kentucky, forester with the U. S. Forest Survey, will accompany Miller on his trip which will embrace the forested lands of virtually every southern Illinois county south of Centralia.

While the state has had a forest service for many years, this is the first year that it has been eligible for cooperation with the national service, which already includes 36 states.

Since merger with the state department of conservation, funds for conservation of the state's timber resources have become available. Comprehensive investigation will be made by the state and federal government representatives of the southern districts, and suggestions will probably be made by Mr. Bruner for averting or diminishing future fires.

Besides making a personal survey of the territory, it is planned to interview all forest wardens of southern Illinois. Game wardens of the state department of conservation who are for the first time cooperating with the forestry division, will also be given suggestions for aiding the forest wardens.

Mr. Miller plans to spend a week or more on the trip, and expects to have valuable information for future protection of timber at the end of it.

Springfield—(AP)—Operating on the eve of a new wage scale agreement, mines in the Illinois coal fields turned in a larger tonnage during the week ending September 1 than in any other week since the Jacksonville wage scale agreement expired on April 1.

This is shown in the weekly statistical review of the bureau of mines, U. S. department of commerce.

During the week, the total output of Illinois mines was set at 818,000 tons, as compared to the 848,000 ton production of the previous six working days. This figure represents a large gain over the weeks since April 1, when the weekly production has been nearer 500,000 tons and in many weeks less.

Production still remains, however, appreciably below that of normal years. During the corresponding week of 1926, the report showed 1,173,000 tons mined, while the weekly average for August, 1923, was 1,363,000 tons.

The gain in the Illinois fields was accompanied by comparable increases in the non-union fields of West Virginia and Kentucky. Production in Kentucky surpassed Illinois by nearly 300,000 tons. Indiana mines showed a slight decrease during the week, as did the Pennsylvania fields. Other producing states were little changed.

Estimated production for the week ending September 8 for all mines of the nation is 8,934,000, a decrease of 5.3 per cent from the 9,436,000 ton mark of the preceding week. This loss, however, is attributed entirely to the observance of Labor Day, general throughout the coal fields. The average daily output increased 5.1 per cent.

The week's estimated production brings the tonnage for 1928 to 321,599,000 tons, an average of 1,512,000 tons for every day since January 1. At the corresponding date in 1927, 363,294,000 tons of coal had been brought to the top.

The earliest killing frosts on record in the northern counties have ranged from August 30 to the end of September at various observation points in northern Illinois. Records of the United States weather bureau maintained over periods ranging from twelve to fifty years, have been used in preparing the following table, showing the average date of the first killing frost and the dates of the earliest killing frosts at stations in

Widening of Game is Hint of Disaster Ap- proaching

BY JAMES P. KIRBY
NEA Service Writer

New York—With all its undisputed claims to distinction, its first in everything, New York nevertheless stands second today in one respect. It remains but a province in the realm ruled by America's underworld king, "Scarface Al" Capone of Chicago, whose minions are engaged in the hazardous but lucrative pursuit of exacting tribute under threats of violence.

True, it was in Brooklyn, where Al Capone "trained" as a youthful member of the old "Navy Street Gang". But New York's gangsters, traditional in fiction for their ferocity, today appear as the quaint relics of another era as compared with the methods and daring of Capone's "mob".

The old gangs of New York—the "Monk Eastmans" and the Hudson Dusters"—and scores of others which provided material for many a melodrama have passed. In their place there has arisen a new type of gang—with new leadership—and with new technique.

Capone Dominates All
And dominating it all, ruling with a firmness and finality never fanned by gang leaders of the past, is "Scarface Al" Capone.

Capone stands out today unique in the history of American crime. For never before has there arisen a figure to challenge law not only of his own but a half dozen other cities. New York, Detroit, Philadelphia, St. Louis—all pay tribute to the man who has established crime as "big business" and on a scale comparable to that of commerce and industry.

And therein lies the hope of the downfall of racketeering; already the game is growing so big, so many agents are necessary for its far-flung activities that it may topple of its own weight as envy, rivalry and greed take the upper hand. A monster organization cannot be controlled like a small gang of desperadoes.

The judgments passed by Capone are far more irrevocable than those of the law, for when Capone decrees death, there are no technicalities, no courts of appeal and no reprieves.

Thus it was that Frankie Yale, of Brooklyn, long the friend and associate of Capone, died when he challenged the rule of Scarface Al.

Years ago, when the Navy Street Gang was at the height of its power, there were few who saw in the juvenile Capone, a hanger-on on the fringe of the gang, the mighty figure who today challenges the ingenuity of the best detectives.

Moved to Chicago
The exact date of Capone's removal to Chicago is still a matter of conjecture here. But it is known that he frequently returns to the old stamping ground.

Capone is known to have been in a cafe in Brooklyn on Christmas, 1926, when "Peg Leg" Loneran, powerful figure in the old "Coney Island Gang" and two others were killed on Twenty-second street in Brooklyn. Capone was brought in by the police, with scores of others, but released when it was impossible to directly connect him with the crime.

"Big Bill" Lovett and Frankie Healy, other gang leaders in lower Manhattan and lower Brooklyn, were killed when it is said Capone was in the immediate neighborhood.

After Capone moved to Chicago, Frankie Yale is known to have made numerous trips to that city. It is declared by Detective Inspector James J. Sullivan of Brooklyn, who knew both well in their days here, that Yale's trips were on the summons of Capone when the latter wanted certain jobs done, for which Yale was peculiarly fitted by training and temperament.

Capone has another intimate friend in the Navy Street Gang over which, eventually, Frankie Yale became the boss. This was Ralph De Amato, who is said to have been a brother-in-law of Diamond Joe Esposito of Chicago.

De Amato, Yale and Capone were friends of long standing. Not so long ago their friendship was sealed by Capone himself, who presented each with a four-karat diamond ring, each valued at $5000, and which adorned the finger of each until his death.

Yale's collections on gambling, on the long-known Italian "policy game" a form of lottery well established in Brooklyn, on alcohol, wet wash laundries and the various other rackets in which he was engaged, are known to have included certain amounts which went to Capone. There is the story here that even after the presentation of the rings Capone suspected Yale of holding out, and set De Amato to spy on Yale.

When Yale found out he was being double-crossed by De Amato, he ordered him killed, it is said. At any rate, on July 7, 1927, De Amato was killed.

A year to the day, July 7, 1928, the anniversary of De Amato's death, Frankie Yale, while riding in his automobile, fell beneath the bullets of assassins. Inspector Sullivan and District Attorney Charles J. Dodd of Brooklyn are convinced that Yale was killed on orders of Capone, to avenge the killing of De Amato.

Yale is known to have resented the system which compelled him to pay part of his own income to Capone, and at times is credited with having aspired to Capone's high place.

Retaliation
Retaliation for Yale's killing was not long in coming, and even more definitely widens the breach between the Yale "mob" in Brooklyn and the Capone "mob" in Chicago.

Just recently Tony Lombard, lieutenant of Capone, was murdered on the streets of Chicago. The killing is credited to friends of Yale who thus avenged his death.

The war is on. Capone's rule has been challenged by none other than those with whom he started on his career. Their methods are well known to each other, and Capone's bodyguard has been doubled. Capone knows, as Yale knew, and as all the members of their respective mobs know, that no killing in the underworld in which they move goes unavenged.

As the problem of reemployment is largely agricultural, E. B. Thomas, manager of the branch of the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, told farm groups he had assurances the bank would stand by and help them carry on. With this assurance, farmers took hope to thousands of families that employment and wages were in sight.

To Check Profiteering
In an effort to check profiteering the San Juan Chamber of Commerce threatened to cut off both merchandise and credit.

PHOTOS SHOW STORM'S FURY IN SAN JUAN, PORTO RICO

Airplane and Telephoto Speed Pictures From Stricken Island, Swept by Hurricane, to NEA Service Clients

These first pictures from the stricken city of San Juan, Porto Rico, where a tropical hurricane claimed a toll of many lives and caused property loss running into millions, show the wreckage left by the terrific storm. The wind, blowing at nearly 150 miles an hour, ripped houses apart and tossed them about like egg shells while rain came down in torrents. The damage extended throughout the island, leaving many thousands homeless and in danger of starvation. The above photos were taken in the heart of San Juan immediately after the storm had subsided and speeded to this newspaper by NEA Service, via airplane and telephoto wires.

then appealed to the merchants to supply him with trucks without charge so that the debris might be removed.

With reports of casualties coming in, observers said that there was ample substantiation that the estimate of 1,000 dead was justifiable and conservative.

Thomas C. C. MacRae, president of the San Juan Clearing House Association, and others informed as to conditions were agreed that the damage was approximately $100,000,000.

ALONG ATLANTIC COAST
New York, Sept. 20—(AP)—The fringe of the tropical hurricane which swept through the West Indies and Florida lashed the north Atlantic coast today with diminishing violence.

From Hatteras to Boston high seas battered the shore line and the wind which reached "whole gale" force blew down trees, telephone and telegraph poles and disrupted electric light and power systems for several miles inland.

Winds ranging from 80 miles an hour down to 25 miles in protected sections of the metropolitan district swept away many small boats. The chief damage in this section was along the New Jersey coast where seaside resorts were hard hit.

Four deaths were attributed to the storm in New Jersey. They were due to falling trees or traffic accidents.

The worst damage to the New Jersey coast resort cities was at Manasquan and Point Pleasant.

High winds delayed two sections of the National Air Transport air mail at Hadley Field and J. S. Bogart of St. Louis, an inspector of the Aeronautical Division of the Department of Commerce, was forced down at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. in his big Fairchild plane.

CUBANS SEEK REMEDY FOR TOBACCO ILLNESS

Havana—AP—Active steps have been taken by the Cuban sanitation department for the combatting of "phthisis" among employees of tobacco factories. "Phthisis" is a plague similar to quick consumption and caused by tobacco dust.

Reports to the sanitation department are said to reveal startling conditions existing among tobacco rollers and workers throughout the island. Health authorities, being aroused to danger, are taking energetic steps to check and eradicate the plague.

The program tentatively adopted is for compulsory physical examination and issuance of certificates of health to employees for employment and orders for further investigation of the cigar factories of Cuba.

The first geological period, called the azonic, contained no trace of life in any form.

Governor Smith's Special Train Enroute to Oklahoma City, Sept. 20—(AP)—Happy with recollections of another hectic day of "meeting and greeting" campaigning, carried well into the night through the Kansas farm belt, Governor Alfred E. Smith was in the "border" state of Oklahoma today prepared for his second formal bid for the presidency tonight at Oklahoma City.

The Democratic presidential nominee had made up his mind on the line of attack he will follow in his second speech in the west, having worked late last night on an advance manuscript between welcoming demonstrations at more than half a dozen Kansas cities.

Just what the nominee planned to say at the auditorium arranged for his meeting had not been announced. There were indications, however, that he intended to make his stand there one of the most important of his western tour, probably taking a shot at party bolters and countering against critics of his public record.

May Talk Religion
The religious question, one which has stirred Oklahoma politics in recent years, also was on the lips of many as a possible theme.

Word had reached the train that Oklahoma City was prepared to give Governor Smith a big ovation.

A huge parade was understood to have been arranged.

Gov. Henry Johnston of Oklahoma, a Democrat, and all living former Governors of the state, except two, had planned to board the train at Enid to accompany the nominee to Oklahoma City.

After stops at Lincoln and Fairbury, Nebraska, yesterday, Gov. Smith's train was halted again during the afternoon for rear platform appearances at Belleville, Clay Center and Manhattan, Kansas.

Crowds gave the nominee a hand at every station, but he stuck to his resolution to make no open air speeches. Hundreds climbed to the railing of the observation car to grasp his hand as well as those of Mrs. Smith and their daughter, Mrs. John A. Warner.

Ovation at Topeka
At nightfall Topeka, home of Senator Curtis, was reached and it was here that Governor Smith witnessed the greatest turnout of the Kansas journey. His picture had been hung above the tracks near a platform where a Democratic political meeting had been in progress. Several thousand persons surrounded the Smith private car and sent up a wild shout as the train came to a stop. Bands struck up "The Sidewalks of New York," as had others along the way, and demands were persistent for a speech.

Again politely declining the Governor confined his stay amidst the capital throng to shaking hands. "Somebody's going to get hurt," the Governor warned and then turning humorously to the approving crowd asked for a big policeman who could best stand the jostling. The city Police Chief approached taking him by the hand, the Governor amid laughter informed those within close range.

Provoked Laughter
"Now if you want to say you shook hands with me, go around to the police station tomorrow and shake the Chief's hand."

Word to the nominee to look his way and would see "some one you know," receiving a glance the band leader doffed his hat and began waving it back and forth high above his head. Then the campaign brown derby appeared and the nominee imitated the Negro's motions in cheer leader fashion as shouts of "Atta boy Al" went up from the crowd.

Charles B. Beebe, secretary of Governor Ben S. Paulen, who is in Vermont, extended Kansas greetings to Governor Smith who previously had been informed by Dudley Doolittle, Democratic National Committeeman, accompanying him from Omaha to Topeka, that his endorsement of the McNary-Haugen bill principle of controlling surplus crops had made the Sunflower state "doubtful."

MONEY PAID TO POLICE OFFICER SHOWN IN TRIAL

$5,100 in Bills Paid Phila Police is Introduced in Case

Philadelphia, Sept. 20—(AP)—An envelope containing $5100 in $100 bills was in the possession of District Attorney Monaghan today as representing but a small portion of the $200,000 which he declares has been paid to police in a year by bootleggers and rum rings.

Introduction of the money into the trial of Police Captain William C. Knoll came in dramatic fashion yesterday after the grand jury, which is investigating possible collusion between police and bootleggers and gang murders, had obtained information tending to show the acceptance of protection money by certain police officials.

A short time after the District Attorney had caused the arrest of Captain Knoll and Detectives John Sells and Herbert Layre on charges of bribery, extortion and conspiracy, they were held by Judge Edwin O. Lewis in heavy bail for further hearing.

Fourteen saloonkeepers confronted Knoll and the detectives from the witness stand and testified that they had been paying $25 a week for police protection.

COST OF FRENCH WINES CONTINUE TO INCREASE

Paris—(AP)—The price of ordinary French table wine has reached a point 2,000% higher than before the war.

Despite the fact that the 1928 grape crop is excellent the wine merchants are driving the price still higher. The actual increase is not as much as the figures indicate, owing to the drop in value of the franc.

S.S.S. and Rheumatism simply don't get along together

You know it cannot be rubbed away

ARE you one of those unfortunate ones who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude. "After suffering several years, six bottles of S.S.S. completely relieved me of rheumatism. It also cleared up a skin eruption and gave me a good appetite. I think S.S.S. is a wonderful medicine."—R. L. Busic, Southern Railway, Knoxville, Tenn.

"I was very nervous, had hardly any appetite, and suffered with rheumatism. I tried many medicines, but S.S.S. is the one that did me the most good. I am now well, and feel like a new man."—William Osborne, 2406 Sloan Street, Flint, Michigan.

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Giants prepared to defend their home citadel against a double onslaught from the Cardinals today, though the weather-wise thought rain would halt all action. Moisture might blur the glory of the greatest National League pugilist in this city since the Giants and the Pirates had it out for the 1925 pennant late in August of that year, but rain today would not be altogether unwelcome to John Joseph McGraw.

A postponement today would mean merely that the two games would be played tomorrow.

Not a wheel moved in the major circuits yesterday. American League teams were enjoying a scheduled day as a hurricane fresh from Florida swept the National League schedule clean. Double headers immediately were arranged by Boston and Philadelphia. The Braves now must entertain the Reds six times in three days, while the Phillies will double with the Pirates on Saturday.

News From Grid
Camps of Large
Schools of West

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—What the 1928 edition of the University of Notre Dame team will do on the gridiron is something that is not only interesting to the football populace but is something that Coach Knute Rockne is seriously considering. For this fall the Notre Dame "master mind" is faced with the problem of constructing from two veterans and a host of green material a forward wall that will fit in with his hair trigger offense.

Rockne will get the first glimpse of his work Saturday when he sends the varsity against the freshmen in their annual tussle. The public however, will have to wait until September 29 when Loyola of New Orleans invades South Bend, as Saturday's scrimmage will be behind closed gates.

More speed is the cry of Rockne and his assistants as they attempt to whip the six new comers in the line into the system that has carried the Rockne-trained teams far in the past. The Notre Dame mentor has set about the task of finding three sets of ends. Five wingmen received monograms last year and of the five, four were graduated, leaving only John Golerick.

The first scrimmage was held yesterday and the action of the regular squad against the reserve eleven was none too pleasing to Rockne. Jack Hannon, leading candidate for guard position, was not included in the regulars as he has an injured foot that will slow him up for about a week. Jack Elder, outstanding sprinter of the middle west, is being groomed in kicking and passing to replace Johnny Niemiec at left half when the occasion demands.

Basement Gymnasium Makes Home a Joy to Kiddies

INDOOR LAUNDRY
LIGHTENS LABOR
IN BAD WEATHER

Two pins admission to see the great Olympic team in action, and it would be cheap at twice the price. The scene is not Amsterdam, but the home basement rigged up as a gymnasium—an irresistible magnet to all the "kids" in the neighborhood.

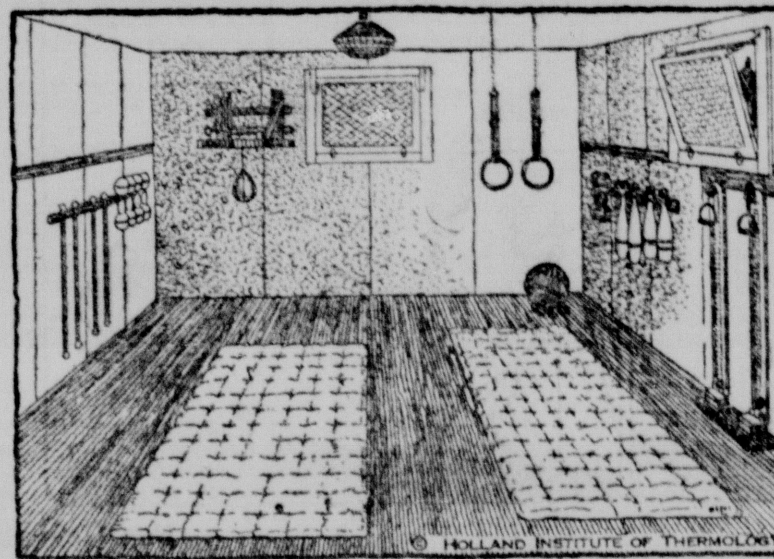

This is one of the many uses that the basement may be put to, according to a study of economical ways of using the more neglected parts of the average home recently made by the Holland Institute of Thermology. This model basement layout was made from an actual house-plan and is practical in every detail.

In its dimensions, 13 x 22 feet, this gym is ample for lads and lassies who are yet too young to be welcome in the high school gymnasium. It is partitioned off with matched lumber or a wallboard. The masonry walls are white-washed and the first floor joists sealed with a sound-deadening material in the interest of the nerves of the grown-ups upstairs.

Guards at the windows and over the lights are essential, as are a couple of regular gymnasium mats. The rest of the equipment consists of the apparatus that the children want, probably acquired bit by bit, as a series of gifts or from vacation-earnings.

It will be noticed that the combined furnace-room, fuel-room and wood-box space is 11 x 22 feet in size—slightly more than one-third of the total basement-area. This is due to the conditions in this particular house, and not to the super-circulating vapor air heating plant, for which an enclosure 10 x 10 feet in size is ample.

One special feature of this type of central heating plant, which the housewife may take into account in planning her basement—laundry is that a hot-water coil may be installed as an integral part of it. This is a practical and exceedingly economical means of obtaining hot water for the laundry.

A warm air leader-pipe may be provided which will supply the laundry with warm air as it is desired and will help to dry the clothes during the winter or in rainy weather. The cleanliness of the improved modern warm air furnace is another factor which contributes to the practicability of the basement-laundry.

The basement in this house is seven and a half feet deep, which is sufficient for the several purposes outlined for it. As in many homes, the stairs come down in the center, which is not ideal from the point of view of full utilization of the basement. Yet the plan shown in the illustration demonstrates that, even in such cases, this part of the home holds large possibilities for use.

Supreme Law Provides Freedom of Religion And Gives All a Vote

This is Constitution Week, commemorating the adoption of the supreme law of the United States. The article below is the fourth of a series of five features citing our constitutional guarantees and explaining interesting facts about our basic law.

BY W. A. McKEARNEY
Prepared for the Cleveland Bar Association

No king will ever rule in the United States while we preserve our Constitution, which provides for a republican form of government. No law will ever be passed to control your freedom of religious worship while we preserve our Constitution, which guarantees the right to worship as your conscience dictates. No religious test is required as a qualification for public office.

No state will ever be invaded by any foreign power without help from all the other states in repelling the invader. The Constitution also guarantees all the states protection against domestic violence.

Every citizen of the United States has the right to vote at all elections. The constant use of this right is the best way to preserve our Constitution.

Lighting the School Rooms

By Harold H. Mitchell, M. D., New York City

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

Is bad lighting in the school handicapping your child? School, medical, and public health authorities point to bad school lighting as a cause of eyestrain. Is your community guilty of inflicting this handicap upon its children?

Such an authoritative report as that of the Joint Committee on Health Problems in Education of the National Education Association and the American Medical Association states that two of the chief causes of eyestrain in the schoolroom are insufficient illumination and glare. They emphasize the need for eliminating from the classroom all highly polished glossy surfaces that reflect light, and the prevention of sharp contrasts caused by brilliant light against a dark background—blackboards placed between windows provide such bad contrasts. The arrangement of shades to avoid the glare of bright sunlight, and at the same time to obtain the benefit of adequate light is also emphasized. Translucent buff-colored shades are recommended so as to transmit the light and at the same time diffuse it. Color of the walls and ceilings is important to good lighting conditions; light buff, light warm gray, dark cream and grayish green are recommended; for walls white or light cream for ceilings. Artificial lighting must be of adequate intensity of illumination, and the naked light sources should be shielded to prevent glare and sharp contrasts.

We may be proud of our American public schools, but pride will not protect our children from eyestrain in badly lighted school buildings. Wherever achievement in public education justifies civic pride

UTILITIES HAD CHECK ON ACTS OF LEGISLATORS

Further Disclosures in the Federal Probe of Alleged Trust

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Steps taken by the New Jersey Utility Association to keep in touch with legislative pending before the state legislature were traced today in the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of power utilities during testimony by William H. Roth, secretary.

He produced financial records, by which Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, disclosed that daily reports of legislative activities were received along with copies of all bills introduced. Correspondence also brought out that references to discussion of matters pending before the legislature had been eliminated from minutes of the association meetings.

One letter written by Roth in March, 1927, regarding an increased assessment for support of the state public utility information committee, described that committee as having done "much good for utilities generally," especially in the matter of opposing and preventing adverse legislation from getting through.

"This is a matter that we don't advertise for obvious reasons," the letter continued. "The general educational benefit derived by the utility industry through the dissemination of facts through our information committee cannot be measured in dollars and cents."

Roth wrote that such committees were working in 38 states to put information of all kinds at the disposal of schools and other institutions, and said this would "bring about a better understanding of the importance of the utility industry, and as you know when a person understands a thing he is less apt to oppose it."

Healy's examination dwelt particularly on the connection with the association of Professor Theodore J. Grayson, who does extension work for the University of Pennsylvania. Many small payments to Grayson were listed in the financial accounts, and Roth said these were for expenses in connection with arranging and attending meetings for the association as its treasurer.

HOOVER ALPHABET By Mabel F. Martin

AMERICA:

Hoover Made the World Grateful to Her

In choosing a president we could find no other American who stands so high in the esteem of humanity, or who is in a better position to work for international good will and world peace than Herbert Hoover. Wherever he has gone on his errands of mercy, he has earned the gratitude of millions of people, and that gratitude has rebounded to the glory of his native land. Children that Hoover saved are growing into manhood and womanhood with the memory of the debt they owe to our country and to Hoover. The consciousness of this obligation will keep them friendly to America. It will do much to avert war when international misunderstandings arise. Hoover has been an ambassador of good will.

100-YEAR-OLD WOMAN

HAS FIRST MOTOR RIDE
Catanara, Italy.—(AP)—A hale old lady celebrated her 100th birthday here by riding in an automobile for the first time in her long life and she liked it.

Her name is Signora Francesca Bucca and she took part in the general stone-throwing that accompanied the revolution of '48.

After her ride she attended mass and gave thanks for having been spared to see the marvels of the twentieth century.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

MOUND BUILDERS TOMB

Having just returned from a motor trip to southern Illinois, we wish to call attention to one of the most interesting archaeological exhibits to be seen in the United States. We refer to the Dickson Mound Builders' Tomb, located southeast of Lewis-ton, Ill., close to the junction of the Spoon River with the Illinois.

This mound, a crescent shaped one, was opened in 1927 by Dr. Don Dickson. One looks down on 183 well preserved human skeletons, lying just as they were placed centuries ago. Apparently the burials were haphazard, a few skeletons remains lie cross-cross and are in no regular order as to direction. The longest of these shows the man to have been 6 feet 2 inches and is said to be the tallest so far found. Both male and female and also children were buried in this mound.

A structure made from Brazil tile 4x76 feet has been erected over the grave to protect the finds from the elements.

Taken from this mound and on exhibit are vast quantities of arrow and spear-points, axes, beads, and various other artifacts of flint and bone. Several of the pipes show originality in design and clever skill in workmanship. One, an Eagle empy pipe, is exceptionally well wrought and very interesting. Some of these relics, such as spear points, beads, vases and kettles have been left in the grave near the skeletons and but partly uncovered presenting a very impressive spectacle.

Style and Quality are Important in the New Fall Mode

The mode is femininely smart

LAST season it was a tendency, this fall it is an established fact that the mode is smartly feminine in every phase. This new whim of fashion is most attractively illustrated in our collection of Printzess coats.

Beautifully Printzess Tailored

ALL models are beautifully tailored and finished with crepe or silk linings. For street, for afternoon, for sportswear, you cannot make a happier choice than one of these excellent Printzess values. See them on display.

Of French Inspiration

Each style is an adaptation of a French design and represents the best in fashion. The models sketched are typical of those featured in our advance fall pageant. New silhouettes, new fabrics, new trimming motifs are presented in groups moderately marked for every preference.

And for All Types

Printzess garments are designed not for the few, but for all types. Among these styles is also a Printzess Petite assortment for shorter women and Printzess "Travelure" for travel and sports. So whatever your type, there's a garment waiting for you here.

Printzess garments are moderately priced.
